Try these prompts:

We need content for our manager program Difficult Conversations.

Can you recommend some books on strategic thinking and decision-making that offer insights and strategies for executives?

We need content around unconscious bias and diversity and inclusion that provide practical guidance for building a more inclusive workplace.

"For someone in a time crunch, this nails it. I can consistently get results that match my needs within the first 3 suggestions."

We're creating a program around change management for our leaders.

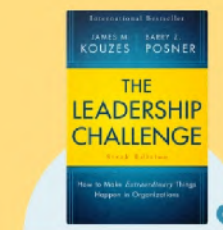

Hi there! Let me see what I can find for you...

1. Our Iceberg is Melting by John Kotter & Holger Rathgeber

A great book on change management. It is written in a fable format that tells the story of a group of penguins who need to change their ways of living as their iceberg is melting.

2. The Leadership Challenge by James Kouzes & Barry Posner

Another book that I would recommend is The Leadership Challenge by James Kouzes and Barry Posner. This book is based..
